

Jan. 15, 2016

We get the media we deserve

- There is a vast difference between journalism and most of what appears on the internet and cable TV.
- Americans need to learn how to consume information to be able to distinguish between journalism and blather.
- Unless we demand a change in our information culture, we risk becoming the most ill-informed Americans since our country's founding.

Presented by Roger Plothow, Editor and Publisher of the Post Register, Shelley Pioneer, Jefferson Star, and Challis Messenger. Vice President, APG/Rockies.

